THE ROOKERY CHICAGO

The name of Custom House place was changed to Federal street at the request of Alderman Kenna.

An appropriation for a public school at Robey and Polk streets was passed which will cost $230,000, an appropriation of $140,000 for an addition to Shields school and an appropriation of $35,000 each for additions to Trumbull and Tilton schools.

If you have any suggestions to make about the new charter you can send them in to any of the following named persons, who make up the charter convention:

Just as the florists do wonderful things in developing flowers, so do the French manufacturers, who are now turning out artificial roses and dahlias that measure from eight to ten inches in diameter, a single "bloom" covering the crown of the latest Paris hat. To imitate a flower on that scale is a task for an artist; but it is said that the new creations look very natural, especially in the milliner's bill.

The American Humane Education Society has offered a prize of a thousand dollars for a play on the subject of "The Christ of the Andes." It is an inspiring subject, the shrine on the boundary between Chile and Argentina, signaling peace between the nations, but no play offered was judged worthy of the prize. The choice of the dramatic form in this contest is significant at a time when the elevation of the drama as a vehicle of serious ideas is urged.

Does anybody know whether the motto has been put back on the coins?

EAGLETS.

The man who wants but little here below is usually willing to compromise on a political office.

Theodore, Jr., has already been promoted to a more responsible job. We hope he is rising strictly on his merits.

Prof. Starr of Chicago says the Filipinos are not lazy. All the same they seem ready to accept almost any office that is offered them.

Harry Thaw found going insane quite convenient, but it annoys him greatly to think of having to remain insane for an indefinite period.

The night riders have been active recently, but the college hazers can still point with pride to the fact that they are beating all others in producing cripples.

Some men seem not to care how much trouble they leave behind them when they pass on to that other shore. Three widows are claiming the estate of a Boston man.

A boy 7 years old was sent to jail for two days because he told lies. Had the lawyer been keen, the boy might have been acquitted on the ground that he was merely practicing for a political career.

The announcement that five Harvard men "cheated death" should arouse President Eliot, who is a stickler for honest college sport, to make a searching investigation.

A Maine hunter shot a man whom he mistook for a squirrel. Being mistaken for a deer is bad enough, but being mistaken for a squirrel is certainly adding insult to injury.

China asks a helping hand, declares Li Sun Ling, the Hong Kong editor. Anyone who has attempted to master chop sticks with only two hands will realize that China should have a third.

The earnest reformers who have been trying to arouse public opinion to the necessity for establishing uniform divorce laws have not yet been able to remove all the obstacles in the way of the proposed reform. But they will do a great work if this agitation results in shutting down the divorce mills of some States, where marriage seems to be regarded as a joke, and not as an institution which ought to be strengthened and safeguarded at every point.

The office sometimes seeks the man, but how he does hustle after he gets the nomination.

It seems incredible that in so civilized a country as Italy a man can have remained in prison unfriended for thirty-eight years. Yet the government is about to dispose of a case which has been pending since 1870. On Sept. 18 of that year two boys, aged 11 and 8 years, started for a gunsmith's with their father's pistol to be repaired. On the way they quarreled, and the elder shot the younger, probably by accident. The elder was arrested by the papal authorities, then the rulers of Rome; but before he could be brought to trial the temporal power of the Pope was taken away. In 1882 the new power in Rome had reached the case and was ready to try it; but the death penalty was abolished about this time, and this caused fresh delay. Now, if he is so fortunate, the boy, now a middle-aged man, will either be discharged from custody or formally punished.

Some Monday in the autumn always finds a ministers' meeting discussing the death of young men studying for the ministry. But none of the clergymen who spoke on this lack seemed aware how many new fields attract the young men who once became ministers. Thirty years ago the young man with a call and a vocation to the service of religion and the aid of his fellow-men had little but the pulpit before him. To-day there are 2,500 societies in the Young Men's Christian Association who would once have been pastors. There are thousands of religious young men holding places in charitable societies and in college settlement work. Of the 300 men who took the degree of Ph.D. or Sc.D. last June, with a view to the higher teaching, many would once have been ordained and by that path become college professors. The number of young men in the work of religion, the church and humanity, is larger than ever it was.
